NUMBER 175

SENATOR JOHN S. FISHER
WILL SPEAK AT GOOD
ROAD CLUB MEETINGCOMMITTEE SUCCESSFUL IN HAVING ONE
OF GOVERNOR SPROUL'S RIGHT HAND
MEN TO COME THURSDAY

COME AND BRING YOUR BIG MEN

The most eloquent argument in a good roads movement in Clearfield County is the condition of the roads today.

We all know the results that may be accomplished by an organized effort along any line.

A movement is afoot to organize a county-wide association having as its sole object and purpose the improvement of existing roads, the building and maintaining of new roads, and the securing of the maximum amount of State and Federal aid for Clearfield County. These are live questions today.

Senator John S. Fisher, a good roads enthusiast, and a member of Governor Sproul's cabinet, will address a meeting called for next Thursday at 1.30 P. M. in the Court House.

It is proposed to organize a county-wide association in which it is hoped at least 1000 members can be enrolled. The organization and election of officers will be had on Thursday.

Come to the meeting. Bring your "strong" men from your section with you. You and your people will want a voice in the organization and in its future activities.

We will expect the pleasure of seeing you Thursday at the Court House at 1.30 P. M. Senator Fisher has a message on the road question.

IF YOUR YANK IS NOT ON POLICE
DUTY HE WILL BE BACK VERY SOON

FIFTY DEER ARE BROUGHT
NORTH FROM THE SOUTH

Game Commissioner E. W. Kelly has returned from North Carolina, where he went for the purpose of securing a carload of deer. Mr. Kelly succeeded in trapping fifty-nine deer, which were brought north and released in the woods of Dauphin county. The commissioner trapped a total of fifty-one animals, but one of them was so badly injured that it had to be shot. It ran against a tree in the excitement.

The commissioner expects to go over to the Wetover park next week, where he expects to trap 100 deer to be released later in various counties. Some of these deer will be released in Clearfield county, being given their freedom in the vicinity of Surry Run. It is expected that about ten of them will be given their freedom in the vicinity of DuBois.

SOLD CIGARETTES
TO MINORS: HELD
FOR COURT TRIAL

Venders of cigarettes have come to a sudden realization that there is a law governing the sale of these coffee tacks and that a stiff fine is provided for any one who sells them to one under twenty one years of age. Cigarette smoking has become all too prevalent among boys of ten to fifteen years of age in Clearfield and it is no uncommon sight to find three or four of these little fellows of this age with growth stunters between their teeth. Parents who do not object to their older boys smoking at will have become alarmed when little Horace or little William of the tender ages of ten or twelve are accidentally found back in an alley smoking cigarettes like veterans. Up until a short time ago, the habit was so prevalent that boys of these ages smoked in public places and observers noticed that a large percentage of the boys entering the Y. M. C. A. threw away a half smoked pill before entering the doors to develop spirit, body and mind. It was on complaint of these parents that Secretary Grafius of the Y. M. C. A. began to question boys who frequent the Y. M. C. A. and their revelations were astounding. Apparently boys between twelve and sixteen could buy cigarettes almost any place in town where they were for sale with the exception of the tobacco stores and some of the drug stores. It also developed that at one or two places boys were able to buy cigarettes provided they showed a written order but this written order did not need to be signed. It is said that one or two of the boys kept a written order in blank in his pocket and would use it on or as suggested by Secretary Grafius was laid before District Attorney Arnold who on account of the preponderance of evidence of total disregard for the law ordered the indictment of Cal. Paris who conducts a confectionary store on Third street. Paris was given a hearing on Saturday afternoon and was released for court under $300 bail. Meanwhile the "makins" are much in demand among the juveniles.

FOUR PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM VENANGO JAIL

By United Press

Franklin, Jan. 27.—Four prisoners in the Venango county jail made their escape early today by beating Sheriff James D. Harrah into unconsciousness and taking his key. They are said to have gone to a powder magazine two miles away and taken four sticks of dynamite. Wm. Grider, aged 18, Willard Grider aged 16, Jess Williams aged 19 and Howard Hanola aged 25, were the four who escaped. The Griders are brothers. The men who were free in the corridor of the jail attacked the sheriff with sticks when he went to lock them up.

While unlocking the doors with the sheriff's key, Mrs. Harrah entered to learn what was keeping her husband. One of the four held her until the other three escaped. Sheriff Harrah was in a critical condition this afternoon as a result of the beating. He was unconscious ten hours and his jaw was broken. No trace has been found of the men who made their escape.

COMMUNICATION ON
MEMORIAL SHADE
TREE PROPOSITION

"I have noted with a great deal of interest the suggestion of Charles T. Kurtz that a memorial tree be planted in the rear of the new High school for each soldier, sailor or Red Cross nurse from Clearfield borough and Lawrence Township who gave their lives in the world war.

As a member of the Shade Tree commission I want to assure Mr. Kurtz that he will have our co-operation in any such worthy enterprise but just at the present there are a few obstacles in the way which should be fully considered before the tree proposition takes concrete form.

In the first place it should be generally understood that the planting of trees is not to be the only means that this community should take to commemorate the lives and deeds of these people. Although beautiful in sentiment, the cost of the proposition does not measure up to what this community is able to do.

In the second place the location suggested is a very good one, but before new trees are planted there, the river wall improvements should be carried out. Many of our foremost citizens have dreamed for years of having a concrete wall to protect that plat of grounds from floods and now that the new High School grounds are protected by a wall it will be only a matter of a short time until the wall is projected and the park in the rear of the High school filled in and raised. No trees should be planted in that location until these improvements are made.

The tree idea is a good one, and must not be lost sight of regardless of what form our memorial to our soldiers and sailors takes. In conversation with other citizens it has been suggested that the wall be built level of the park raised and a suitable monument be built and finally that a tree for each of those who gave their lives be planted on the ground in such a way as to fit in with the general architectural or landscape design. On this hallowed spot our annual Memorial Day exercises could be held."

P. S. COMMISSION
SAYS PHONE RATES
OF BURLESON VOID

Harrisburg, Jan. 27.—Chairman William D. B. Ainey of the Pennsylvania Public Service commission in a statement tonight declared the increased telephone rates cannot be legally collected from telephone users in Pennsylvania. The statement tonight declared increased telephone rates cannot be legally collected from telephone users in Pennsylvania. The statement follows:

"The order by the Postmaster General to telephone companies to increase toll rates in Pennsylvania is, in the opinion of the commission, in direct violation of the law and cannot be legally collected from telephone users.

"In order to make such increased rates effective under the Pennsylvania statute, tariffs in due form must be posted and filed with this commission for thirty days before they become enforceable. This is to give the public time within which to file protests and the commission an opportunity to investigate.

"Any attempt to fix or collect rates not so filed is contrary to our laws, and telephone users are under no obligation to pay the increases."

GREAT BUILDING ERA IS ABOUT TO COMMENCE

High Rents, Tumble Down Shacks and Lack of Homes For Newly Married Yanks Make New Demand

LET US KNOW YOUR PLANS

"Build a Building."

That's to be the slogan throughout the country during the coming spring and summer months. And there's a reason, and a good one!

No building other than that which was absolutely necessary has been done during the past year. Government restrictions, made necessary by the war emergency, practically stopped all construction work. Now these restrictions have been removed and there are many reasons why building plans should be revived and carried out as speedily as possible. The buildings are needed, their construction will add to the general prosperity of the community, and, last but not least, the work will provide employment for the soldiers who are now being discharged.

Clearfield should not and undoubtedly will not be behind other communities in this particular. Many residents not only of Clearfield but of the surrounding country were planning new homes or other buildings, or improvements on old buildings when war put an end to these activities. Now there is no reason why these plans should not be revived and as stated above, there are many reasons why they should be carried out.

The Progress wishes to print all the news regarding building plans and building operation in Clearfield and vicinity, and asks its readers to give it information of their own plans and any others of which they may have knowledge. News of this kind is of general interest and its publication will benefit the entire community. Construction work of a useful character is a boon to the community. It puts money into circulation where it will do the most good—at home. It improves labor conditions and brings added prosperity to every resident of the community.

Government Behind Movement:
The United States government itself is behind this "Build a Building" movement. William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, issued a statement recently, calling on individuals as well as state and municipal authorities to begin at once the building projects that had been stopped to release labor and materials for war purposes. Secretary Wilson summed up the situation when he said:

"Lack of dwelling accommodations and lack of public conveniences in the way of roads, bridges and public buildings are a serious detriment at this time, when we are anxious to pass through the readjustment period with all speed. There is another and equal serious side, however, namely that with the lack of building activities many of our returned soldiers who are skilled in various building trades will find themselves out of employment on their return to this country."

"I have no thought of advocating wasteful or unnecessary building, for that would be a poor solution of a most serious problem; but I do feel that if we can secure from public authorities and private individuals an early intention to start work in the construction of buildings, sewers, waterworks, bridges and similar undertakings, all of which are vitally necessary, we will not only be increasing the total substantial value of our country, but we will in a measure be stabilizing general economic conditions during the period of reconstruction."

Materials and Labor Plentiful

It is apparent that there will be no dearth of either materials or labor for the building that is necessary during the next year or two. As a starter the United States Steel corporation has announced a reduction in the price of building materials but as a matter of fact, the advance in the cost of building during the last few years has been far less than in almost any other line, and incomes have increased in a much greater proportion.

Lack of dwelling accommodations has created a bad condition in many places. It has increased rents out of all proportion to the increase in the cost of construction and the necessity for increased incomes of the owners. This condition will be maintained until such a time as there have been provided more homes.

The farmers, who have greatly increased their production of food under the stimulus of high prices and the appeals of the government, lack many buildings that are necessary for the efficient operation of their farms. This sort of building, like all others, was halted by the war industries board. All restrictions now have been removed and everyone is free to carry out his building plans.

"Build a Building" will become exceptionally popular this spring and summer and everyone who has had such a thought in mind during the period of anxiety will do well to get busy and formulate his plans.

PEACE COUNCIL DECLARES FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

APPOINTS COMMITTEES TO PLAN THE ORGANIZATION ALSO TO PLACE BLAME FOR THE WORLD WAR

AND FORM TRIAL COURT FOR "BILL"

Paris, Jan. 25 — The Peace Conference in full session today unanimously adopted the League of Nations project. President Wilson and Colonel House are the American members of the commission thereon.

The resolution submitted to the conference for the creation of the league was as follows:

It is essential to the maintenance of the world settlement, which the associated nations now are met to establish that a league of nations be created to promote internal obligations and to provide safeguards against war. This league should be created as an integral part of the general treaty of peace and should be open to every civilized nation which can be relied on to promote its objects.

The members of the league should periodically meet in international conference and should have a permanent organization and secretaries to carry on the business of the league in the intervals between the conferences.

The conference therefore appoints a committee representative of the associated governments to work out the details of the constitution and the functions of the league.

The following draft of resolutions in regard to breaches of the laws of war also was in readiness for the conference:

That a commission composed of two representatives apiece from the five great Powers and five representatives to be elected by the other Powers be appointed to inquire and report upon the following:

First, the responsibility of the authors of the war; second the facts as to breaches of the laws and cus-

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

LETTER FROM PAT TURNER

Dear Brother Bill:
Just a line in answer to your letter of the 19th of November which I was glad to receive and to know that you are all well and this leaves me the same.

Well Bill, I will try and answer some of the questions you ask me. You ask me the names of the towns I was in. When I arrived in France we landed in Brest. We stayed there eight days and then were loaded on box cars and traveled two days and nights to the city of St. Agnone and we hiked about a mile to a classification camp where we got something to eat and three hours sleep then we hiked back to St. Agnone and on to the city of Contes. We got there about noon so we had dinner and it was there that a lot of the fellows were disappointed. They had a lecture there for us and the Colonel told us that we were there for a little training so we thought we would get in couple of months at least but he soon got that notion out of the heads. He said he did not know just how long we would stay there, maybe it would be four days and maybe four weeks, so that took the heart out of a lot of us but before he got through speaking I don't believe there was one fellow that didn't want to go to the front as soon as possible. Then we hiked three kilometers to a little place called Sassaf where we were sent in the 162nd Inf. It was there I got an abscess on my hip, so I didn't get much training there. When my company was ready to leave I could not go on account of my hip. There was another company came in later so I left with them. We hiked back to St. Agnone which is only 12 miles to the railroad track and there we mounted the box cars again. They are about half as big as one of the smallest of the N. Y. C. and they only put 40 men to a car so you know how much room we had. We rode about three days to some town, I don't remember the name, and from there we hiked to a little woods and then to Gene Court. The night after we left that woods it was blown to pieces, so we were lucky. It was in Gene Court that we met the Sergeant of the 313 Inf. He the moment that we were to replace. There was several cases of mumps broke out and they hiked us to a woods and kept us in quarantine for two weeks. From there we joined the 313th on a Friday at noon and Saturday afternoon at five o'clock we started for the front lines. Then I got my first experience in warfare. There are some hair-raising stories there. We went over the top at one place known as Death Valley and after the drive we went on. We were followed by the 313th. We went on another front where we went over the top and four days later the armistice was signed. You should have heard the cheering. There were several Germans come over the lines and shook hands with us. They were certainly glad it was over and I guess every one else was too. When the fighting ceased we were on the Verdun front and that is where we are yet. There are no civilians in any of the towns around here, just American soldiers.

Well, Bill, I guess I have told you enough of my trip for this time. Can tell you more when I come home so will close for this time. Will write soon again.

Your loving brother

FAMILIES OF MEN IN SERVICE SEND PHOTOS TO CAPITAL

An interesting fact in connection with the hundreds of war service records now being received every day at the headquarters of the war history commission, of the Pennsylvania Council of National Defense, 1300 Locust street, Philadelphia, is that nearly one-third of them are accompanied with photographs of the men who are in the service. This shows that the parents, relatives and friends of men who have gone into the war are anxious to have a complete record preserved in the commission's archives.

The blanks are being printed in the newspapers and also distributed in every county of the state through various agencies. Every man who has gone into the service, either of the United States or of the allies, should be presented in this record of what Pennsylvanians have done in the war.

The commission reports that it has not received very many letters direct from boys at the front. It hopes that friends and relatives will deposit with the commission copies of the letters which have been received, as these will prove a very valuable record in future years.

terms of war... by the forces of the German Empire and their allies on land and sea and in the air during the present war; third, the degree of responsibility for these offenses attaching to particular members of the enemy's forces, including members of the general staffs and other individuals, however highly placed; fourth, the constitution and procedure of a tribunal appropriate to the trial of these offenses; fifth, and other matters cognate or ancillary to the above which may arise in the course of the inquiry and which the commission finds it useful and relevant to take into consideration.

Labor Questions to Be Sifted
The following draft of a resolution in regard to international legislation on industrial and labor questions for presentation to the Peace Conference was made public today:

That a commission composed of two representatives apiece from the five great powers and five representatives to be elected by the powers represented at the Peace Conference

be appointed to inquire into the conditions of employment from the international aspect and to consider international means necessary to secure common action on matters affecting conditions of employment and to recommend the form of a permanent agency to continue such inquiry and consideration, in co-operation with and under the direction of the league of nations.

The draft of another resolution to go before the conference regarding international control of ports, waterways and railways reads:

Resolution on Reparation

LANE'S COLD & GRIP TABLETS
GUARANTEED

The following draft of a resolution has a deep feeling in the matter because in a least one instance where small bodies of American troops were under other commands they were used to push forward into a territory where the native population would not have tolerated the forces of any European Power but hailed the coming of the Americans with joy. In some of these cases after the welcome had died down the population awoke to find that the American troops had departed and that their towns were in the possession of troops of another nationality.

The President, it is known, took summary action to prevent the use of American forces for such purposes.

The French, British, American and Italian associations, advocating a league of nations have decided to elaborate their plan for joint meetings. The first session will be held Sunday and will be presided over by Leon Bogaevski, the former French Premier.

The delegates to the second plenary meeting of the Peace Conference began to arrive at the French Pavilion office soon after 2 o'clock. Large crowds filled the square before the Foreign Office.

Wilson Author of Warning
The warning issued yesterday by the supreme council that no military claims must come before the conference unmarked by attacks on positions by force is very widely cited here. It seems to be generally acknowledged that President Wilson was the author of the warning and that he

Mrs. Sallie H. Kulp, 2031 W. 1st St., Phila., pays a high tribute for the aid she received from the use of "Tanlac." "I suffered from a badly run-down system and an 'all in' feeling. My liver seemed sluggish and I felt sleepy and listless much of the time. I lost pounds in weight. My son's illness and death during the grip epidemic caused me to lose heart. Someone at our house suggested Tanlac. I've gained back forty pounds of good weight and feel so much better in every way."

The genuine Tanlac, which bears this name J. I. Gore Co., on outside carton, is now sold by Stewart Drug Co., Woodward & McPherson and other leading druggists. Tanlac, the celebrated vegetable tonic, stimulates and health builder, is also sold in neighboring cities and towns. Ask for it.

SENATOR JOHN S. FISHER
WILL SPEAK AT GOOD
ROAD CLUB MEETINGCOMMITTEE SUCCESSFUL IN HAVING ONE
OF GOVERNOR SPROUL'S RIGHT HAND
MEN TO COME THURSDAY

COME AND BRING YOUR BIG MEN

The most eloquent argument in a good roads movement in Clearfield County is the condition of the roads today.

We all know the results that may be accomplished by an organized effort along any line.

A movement is afoot to organize a county-wide association having as its sole object and purpose the improvement of existing roads, the building and maintaining of new roads, and the securing of the maximum amount of State and Federal aid for Clearfield County. These are live questions today.

Senator John S. Fisher, a good roads enthusiast, and a member of Governor Sproul's cabinet, will address a meeting called for next Thursday at 1.30 P. M. in the Court House.

It is proposed to organize a county-wide association in which it is hoped at least 1000 members can be enrolled. The organization and election of officers will be had on Thursday.

Come to the meeting. Bring your "strong" men from your section with you. You and your people will want a voice in the organization and in its future activities.

We will expect the pleasure of seeing you Thursday at the Court House at 1.30 P. M. Senator Fisher has a message on the road question.

An addition of $3,000,000 to the Ohio River and $1,000,000 to the Allegheny River were the only big increases in the House bill. The measure called for $32,702,000 as against $26,939,000 as passed by the House.

FIFTY DEER ARE BROUGHT
NORTH FROM THE SOUTH

Game Commissioner E. W. Kelly has returned from North Carolina, where he went for the purpose of securing a carload of deer. Mr. Kelly succeeded in trapping fifty-nine deer, which were brought north and released in the woods of Dauphin county. The commissioner trapped a total of fifty-one animals, but one of them was so badly injured that it had to be shot. It ran against a tree in the excitement.

The commissioner expects to go over to the Wetover park next week, where he expects to trap 100 deer to be released later in various counties. Some of these deer will be released in Clearfield county, being given their freedom in the vicinity of Surry Run. It is expected that about ten of them will be given their freedom in the vicinity of DuBois.

SOLD CIGARETTES
TO MINORS: HELD
FOR COURT TRIAL

Venders of cigarettes have come to a sudden realization that there is a law governing the sale of these coffee tacks and that a stiff fine is provided for any one who sells them to one under twenty one years of age. Cigarette smoking has become all too prevalent among boys of ten to fifteen years of age in Clearfield and it is no uncommon sight to find three or four of these little fellows of this age with growth stunters between their teeth. Parents who do not object to their older boys smoking at will have become alarmed when little Horace or little William of the tender ages of ten or twelve are accidentally found back in an alley smoking cigarettes like veterans. Up until a short time ago, the habit was so prevalent that boys of these ages smoked in public places and observers noticed that a large percentage of the boys entering the Y. M. C. A. threw away a half smoked pill before entering the doors to develop spirit, body and mind. It was on complaint of these parents that Secretary Grafius of the Y. M. C. A. began to question boys who frequent the Y. M. C. A. and their revelations were astounding. Apparently boys between twelve and sixteen could buy cigarettes almost any place in town where they were for sale with the exception of the tobacco stores and some of the drug stores. It also developed that at one or two places boys were able to buy cigarettes provided they showed a written order but this written order did not need to be signed. It is said that one or two of the boys kept a written order in blank in his pocket and would use it on or as suggested by Secretary Grafius was laid before District Attorney Arnold who on account of the preponderance of evidence of total disregard for the law ordered the indictment of Cal. Paris who conducts a confectionary store on Third street. Paris was given a hearing on Saturday afternoon and was released for court under $300 bail. Meanwhile the "makins" are much in demand among the juveniles.

COMMUNICATION ON
MEMORIAL SHADE
TREE PROPOSITION

"I have noted with a great deal of interest the suggestion of Charles T. Kurtz that a memorial tree be planted in the rear of the new High school for each soldier, sailor or Red Cross nurse from Clearfield borough and Lawrence Township who gave their lives in the world war.

As a member of the Shade Tree commission I want to assure Mr. Kurtz that he will have our co-operation in any such worthy enterprise but just at the present there are a few obstacles in the way which should be fully considered before the tree proposition takes concrete form.

In the first place it should be generally understood that the planting of trees is not to be the only means that this community should take to commemorate the lives and deeds of these people. Although beautiful in sentiment, the cost of the proposition does not measure up to what this community is able to do.

In the second place the location suggested is a very good one, but before new trees are planted there, the river wall improvements should be carried out. Many of our foremost citizens have dreamed for years of having a concrete wall to protect that plat of grounds from floods and now that the new High School grounds are protected by a wall it will be only a matter of a short time until the wall is projected and the park in the rear of the High school filled in and raised. No trees should be planted in that location until these improvements are made.

The tree idea is a good one, and must not be lost sight of regardless of what form our memorial to our soldiers and sailors takes. In conversation with other citizens it has been suggested that the wall be built level of the park raised and a suitable monument be built and finally that a tree for each of those who gave their lives be planted on the ground in such a way as to fit in with the general architectural or landscape design. On this hallowed spot our annual Memorial Day exercises could be held."

P. S. COMMISSION
SAYS PHONE RATES
OF BURLESON VOID

Harrisburg, Jan. 27.—Chairman William D. B. Ainey of the Pennsylvania Public Service commission in a statement tonight declared the increased telephone rates cannot be legally collected from telephone users in Pennsylvania. The statement tonight declared increased telephone rates cannot be legally collected from telephone users in Pennsylvania. The statement follows:

"The order by the Postmaster General to telephone companies to increase toll rates in Pennsylvania is, in the opinion of the commission, in direct violation of the law and cannot be legally collected from telephone users.

"In order to make such increased rates effective under the Pennsylvania statute, tariffs in due form must be posted and filed with this commission for thirty days before they become enforceable. This is to give the public time within which to file protests and the commission an opportunity to investigate.

"Any attempt to fix or collect rates not so filed is contrary to our laws, and telephone users are under no obligation to pay the increases."

GREAT BUILDING ERA IS ABOUT TO COMMENCE

High Rents, Tumble Down Shacks and Lack of Homes For Newly Married Yanks Make New Demand

LET US KNOW YOUR PLANS

"Build a Building."

That's to be the slogan throughout the country during the coming spring and summer months. And there's a reason, and a good one!

No building other than that which was absolutely necessary has been done during the past year. Government restrictions, made necessary by the war emergency, practically stopped all construction work. Now these restrictions have been removed and there are many reasons why building plans should be revived and carried out as speedily as possible. The buildings are needed, their construction will add to the general prosperity of the community, and, last but not least, the work will provide employment for the soldiers who are now being discharged.

Clearfield should not and undoubtedly will not be behind other communities in this particular. Many residents not only of Clearfield but of the surrounding country were planning new homes or other buildings, or improvements on old buildings when war put an end to these activities. Now there is no reason why these plans should not be revived and as stated above, there are many reasons why they should be carried out.

The Progress wishes to print all the news regarding building plans and building operation in Clearfield and vicinity, and asks its readers to give it information of their own plans and any others of which they may have knowledge. News of this kind is of general interest and its publication will benefit the entire community. Construction work of a useful character is a boon to the community. It puts money into circulation where it will do the most good—at home. It improves labor conditions and brings added prosperity to every resident of the community.

Government Behind Movement:
The United States government itself is behind this "Build a Building" movement. William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, issued a statement recently, calling on individuals as well as state and municipal authorities to begin at once the building projects that had been stopped to release labor and materials for war purposes. Secretary Wilson summed up the situation when he said:

"Lack of dwelling accommodations and lack of public conveniences in the way of roads, bridges and public buildings are a serious detriment at this time, when we are anxious to pass through the readjustment period with all speed. There is another and equal serious side, however, namely that with the lack of building activities many of our returned soldiers who are skilled in various building trades will find themselves out of employment on their return to this country."

"I have no thought of advocating wasteful or unnecessary building, for that would be a poor solution of a most serious problem; but I do feel that if we can secure from public authorities and private individuals an early intention to start work in the construction of buildings, sewers, waterworks, bridges and similar undertakings, all of which are vitally necessary, we will not only be increasing the total substantial value of our country, but we will in a measure be stabilizing general economic conditions during the period of reconstruction."

Materials and Labor Plentiful

It is apparent that there will be no dearth of either materials or labor for the building that is necessary during the next year or two. As a starter the United States Steel corporation has announced a reduction in the price of building materials but as a matter of fact, the advance in the cost of building during the last few years has been far less than in almost any other line, and incomes have increased in a much greater proportion.

Lack of dwelling accommodations has created a bad condition in many places. It has increased rents out of all proportion to the increase in the cost of construction and the necessity for increased incomes of the owners. This condition will be maintained until such a time as there have been provided more homes.

The farmers, who have greatly increased their production of food under the stimulus of high prices and the appeals of the government, lack many buildings that are necessary for the efficient operation of their farms. This sort of building, like all others, was halted by the war industries board. All restrictions now have been removed and everyone is free to carry out his building plans.

"Build a Building" will become exceptionally popular this spring and summer and everyone who has had such a thought in mind during the period of anxiety will do well to get busy and formulate his plans.

PEACE COUNCIL DECLARES FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

APPOINTS COMMITTEES TO PLAN THE ORGANIZATION ALSO TO PLACE BLAME FOR THE WORLD WAR

AND FORM TRIAL COURT FOR "BILL"

Paris, Jan. 25 — The Peace Conference in full session today unanimously adopted the League of Nations project. President Wilson and Colonel House are the American members of the commission thereon.

The resolution submitted to the conference for the creation of the league was as follows:

It is essential to the maintenance of the world settlement, which the associated nations now are met to establish that a league of nations be created to promote internal obligations and to provide safeguards against war. This league should be created as an integral part of the general treaty of peace and should be open to every civilized nation which can be relied on to promote its objects.

The members of the league should periodically meet in international conference and should have a permanent organization and secretaries to carry on the business of the league in the intervals between the conferences.

The conference therefore appoints a committee representative of the associated governments to work out the details of the constitution and the functions of the league.

The following draft of resolutions in regard to breaches of the laws of war also was in readiness for the conference:

That a commission composed of two representatives apiece from the five great Powers and five representatives to be elected by the other Powers be appointed to inquire and report upon the following:

First, the responsibility of the authors of the war; second the facts as to breaches of the laws and cus-

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

LETTER FROM PAT TURNER

Dear Brother Bill:
Just a line in answer to your letter of the 19th of November which I was glad to receive and to know that you are all well and this leaves me the same.

Well Bill, I will try and answer some of the questions you ask me. You ask me the names of the towns I was in. When I arrived in France we landed in Brest. We stayed there eight days and then were loaded on box cars and traveled two days and nights to the city of St. Agnone and we hiked about a mile to a classification camp where we got something to eat and three hours sleep then we hiked back to St. Agnone and on to the city of Contes. We got there about noon so we had dinner and it was there that a lot of the fellows were disappointed. They had a lecture there for us and the Colonel told us that we were there for a little training so we thought we would get in couple of months at least but he soon got that notion out of our heads. He said he did not know just how long we would stay there, maybe it would be four days and maybe four weeks, so that took the heart out of a lot of us but before he got through speaking I don't believe there was one fellow that didn't want to go to the front as soon as possible. Then we hiked three kilometers to a little place called Sassaf where we were sent in the 162nd Inf. It was there I got an abscess on my hip, so I didn't get much training there. When my company was ready to leave I could not go on account of my hip. There was another company came in later so I left with them. We hiked back to St. Agnone which is only 12 miles to the railroad track and there we mounted the box cars again. They are about half as big as one of the smallest of the N. Y. C. and they only put 40 men to a car so you know how much room we had. We rode about three days to some town, I don't remember the name, and from there we hiked to a little woods and then to Gene Court. The night after we left that woods it was blown to pieces, so we were lucky. It was in Gene Court that we met the Sergeant of the 313 Inf. He the moment that we were to replace. There was several cases of mumps broke out and they hiked us to a woods and kept us in quarantine for two weeks. From there we joined the 313th on a Friday at noon and Saturday afternoon at five o'clock we started for the front lines. Then I got my first experience in warfare. There are some hair-raising stories there. We went over the top at one place known as Death Valley and after the drive we went on. We were followed by the 313th. We went on another front where we went over the top and four days later the armistice was signed. You should have heard the cheering. There were several Germans come over the lines and shook hands with us. They were certainly glad it was over and I guess every one else was too. When the fighting ceased we were on the Verdun front and that is where we are yet. There are no civilians in any of the towns around here, just American soldiers.

Well, Bill, I guess I have told you enough of my trip for this time. Can tell you more when I come home so will close for this time. Will write soon again.

Your loving brother
PATRICK TURNER

FAMILIES OF MEN IN SERVICE SEND PHOTOS TO CAPITAL

An interesting fact in connection with the hundreds of war service records now being received every day at the headquarters of the war history commission, of the Pennsylvania Council of National Defense, 1300 Locust street, Philadelphia, is that nearly one-third of them are accompanied with photographs of the men who are in the service. This shows that the parents, relatives and friends of men who have gone into the war are anxious to have a complete record preserved in the commission's archives.

The blanks are being printed in the newspapers and also distributed in every county of the state through various agencies. Every man who has gone into the service, either of the United States or of the allies, should be presented in this record of what Pennsylvanians have done in the war.

The commission reports that it has not received very many letters direct from boys at the front. It hopes that friends and relatives will deposit with the commission copies of the letters which have been received, as these will prove a very valuable record in future years.

PEACE COUNCIL DECLARED FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

terms of war... by the forces of the German Empire and their allies on land and sea and in the air during the present war; third, the degree of responsibility for these offenses attaching to particular members of the enemy's forces, including members of the general staffs and other individuals, however highly placed; fourth, the constitution and procedure of a tribunal appropriate to the trial of these offenses; fifth, and other matters cognate or ancillary to the above which may arise in the course of the inquiry and which the commission finds it useful and relevant to take into consideration.

Labor Questions to Be Sifted
The following draft of a resolution in regard to international legislation on industrial and labor questions for presentation to the Peace Conference was made public today:

That a commission composed of two representatives apiece from the five great powers and five representatives to be elected by the powers represented at the Peace Conference

be appointed to inquire into the conditions of employment from the international aspect and to consider international means necessary to secure common action on matters affecting conditions of employment and to recommend the form of a permanent agency to continue such inquiry and consideration, in co-operation with and under the direction of the league of nations.

The draft of another resolution to go before the conference regarding international control of ports, waterways and railways reads:

Resolution on Reparation

GUARANTEED

The following draft of a resolution has a deep feeling in the matter because in a least one instance where small bodies of American troops were under other commands they were used to push forward into a territory where the native population would not have tolerated the forces of any European Power but hailed the coming of the Americans with joy. In some of these cases after the welcome had died down the population awoke to find that the American troops had departed and that their towns were in the possession of troops of another nationality.

"That a commission be appointed which shall comprise not more than three representatives apiece from each of the five great Powers and not more than two representatives apiece from Belgium, Greece, Poland, Rumania and Serbia to examine and report:

"First on the amount of reparation which the enemy countries ought to pay; second on what they are capable of paying, and, third on the method, the form and time within which payment should be made."

The French, British, American and Italian associations, advocating a league of nations have decided to elaborate their plan for joint meetings. The first session will be held Sunday and will be presided over by Leon Bogaevski, the former French Premier.

The delegates to the second plenary meeting of the Peace Conference began to arrive at the French Pavilion office soon after 2 o'clock. Large crowds filled the square before the Foreign Office.

Wilson Author of Warning
The warning issued yesterday by the supreme council that no military claims must come before the conference unmarked by attacks on possession by force is very widely cited here. It seems to be generally acknowledged that President Wilson was the author of the warning and that he has a deep feeling in the matter because in a least one instance where small bodies of American troops were under other commands they were used to push forward into a territory where the native population would not have tolerated the forces of any European Power but hailed the coming of the Americans with joy. In some of these cases after the welcome had died down the population awoke to find that the American troops had departed and that their towns were in the possession of troops of another nationality.

The President, it is known, took summary action to prevent the use of American forces for such purposes.

It is the purpose of the organization to cooperate with the county commissioners in their fight for the betterment of the roads in Clearfield county and the fullest concurrence with the Clearfield motorist club will be carried forth.

The following officers were elected: President, P. H. Haggood; secretary, Howard Crowder; treasurer, Seymour Russell. A committee consisting of R. W. Swope, Seymour Russell, J. M. McKinley, Fred Dyer and Fred Caldwell were named to attend the next meeting of the Clearfield good roads enthusiasts at which time action will be taken toward road betterment in this section.

TO REGAIN WEIGHT

Mrs. Sallie H. Kulp, 2031 W. 1st St., Phila., pays a high tribute for the aid she received from the use of "Lacta." "I suffered from a badly run-down system and an 'all in' feeling. My liver seemed sluggish and I felt sleepy and listless much of the time. I lost pounds in weight. My son's illness and death during the grip epidemic caused me to lose heart. Someone at our house suggested Lacta. I've gained back forty pounds of good weight and feel so much better in every way."

The genuine Lacta, which bears this name J. I. Gore Co., on outside carton, is now sold by Stewart Drug Co., Woodward & McPherson and other leading druggists. Tanlac, the celebrated vegetable tonic, stimulates health but is also sold in neighboring cities and towns. Ask for it.
